ESPIONAGE IN THE 21ST CENTURY: HOW THE SPY GAME HAS CHANGED

The CIA and the rest of the Intelligence Community have experienced a dramatic transformation in recent decades. With their reorganization under a new Director of National Intelligence and the emergence of this new technological age, intelligence practitioners are faced with both new opportunities and new challenges in carrying out their vital mission. To comment on the impact of these developments, we are proud to feature FPRI's new President Carol "Rollie" Flynn, who spent 30 years at the CIA primarily in the Directorate of Operations.

In this conversation, as resistance to liberal trade policies grow, and as China moves to create a China-centric order, our guests will explore how the US, China, and Japan view the foundations of economic growth in the years ahead, and the interplay between domestic politics, geopolitics, and what might be called geo-economics.

WHAT IS PUTIN THINKING?

In this discussion, Miller and Nagl will address both the domestic and foreign policy challenges facing Vladimir Putin, and how Putin appears to be doing in meeting those challenges. Miller is a regular contributor to Foreign Policy and is author of Putinomics (University of North Carolina Press, 2018).
